

Task19

Nawar Saeed

Artificial Intelligence for the Web, VT21 DT506A

16 april 2021

This task is about Implement K-means for sparse term-document matrices. It is implemented as Task19.py shows. the code is documented and I guess it is possible to understand what is happening there by reading the documentaries. In addition, I did not make any comparisons due to lack of information and the fact that the teacher was not available.